Course Materials:

- Calculus with Applications by Lial, Greenwell, and Ritchey, 10th Edition. You can buy a hard copy of the textbook (ISBN-10: 0321760026), which comes packaged with MyMathLab and the e-text, or just MyMathLab and the e-text (ISBN-10: 032119991X). Each student must have his or her own access code for MyMathLab for homework. (required)
- A scientific or graphing calculator (recommended)

Check the course MyMathLab page frequently for announcements and assignments!

Prerequisites: Math 9, 10, or sufficiently strong background in secondary school algebra and geometry.

Course Description: Fundamentals of Calculus I is the first course in a two-course sequence intended for students in business or the social sciences. Students majoring in mathematics or engineering should take the Math 21-22-121 sequence. In Math 19 we will investigate the underlying concepts of differential calculus including trigonometry, covering Chapters 1 - 6 and 13 of the textbook. This will include an understanding of functions, limits, continuity, rates of change, derivatives, and applications of derivatives. The material is presented via mathematical modeling of real world situations. We emphasize understanding these new concepts graphically, numerically, verbally, and algebraically. Upon the successful completion of the course a student will understand rates of change, have stronger quantitative reasoning skills, will have enhanced his or her problem solving techniques, and will be prepared to take Math 20.

Grading: Your grade in this course will be based on homework assignments, quizzes, midterm exams, and a final exam as follows:

- ◇ Homework (15%): After each class I will post a homework assignment on MyMathLab. These assignments are due one week after the date they are posted.
- ◇ Quizzes (20%): There will be about 5 in-class quizzes. I will drop the lowest quiz score.
- ◇ Midterm Exams (40%): There will be two midterm exams which will each be worth 20% of your final grade.
- ◇ Final Exam (25%): There will be a cumulative final exam given at 1:30 - 4:15 PM on Monday, December 9th.

Course Outline: The following outline is tentative and subject to change. Consult MyMathLab for the most current schedule.

Academic Honesty: Academic dishonesty is not tolerated. Students are responsible for knowing and observing the Academic Integrity Code, which may be found at:

<http://www.uvm.edu/policies/student/acadintegrity.pdf>.

Extra Help: Don't hesitate to come to my office during office hours or by appointment to discuss a homework problem or any aspect of the course. Additionally, free Math Help Sessions are held Monday through Thursday from 5 to 7 PM. Details can be found at <http://www.uvm.edu/~cems/mathstat/?Page=classes/help-sessions.php>. Free tutoring is also offered by the Learning Co-op (<http://www.uvm.edu/learnco/>).

Learning Disability Policy: If you are a student with a documented learning disability, you are entitled to certain accommodations. However, it is your responsibility to see me as soon as possible so that we may make the necessary arrangements with ACCESS (<http://www.uvm.edu/access/>).
